

FRIDAY, SEPT. 1, 1871.

REAL ESTATE ADVANCEMENT.—The augmenting value of real estate in towns and villages within a radius of twenty miles from Boston, is a fact that has secured the attention of capitalists and speculators, and the owners of "will" lots in this vicinity, induced by some enterprising projector of a new "Smithville" or "Fonesboro" adorned with French roof cottages and other aspiring structures. The towns of Weymouth and Braintree have within their borders a large number of beautiful elevations, overlooking a broad, commanding country, the names of many of these eminences being within a limited distance from railroad communication, offer unsurpassed sites for country residence. When towns from ten to fifteen miles greater distance from Boston are laying out their land not palpable, and the time is ripe for the purchase, embellishment and disposal of them at remunerative rates by the lot, it seems as though some of our capitalists must sooner or later become impressed with the extraordinary advantages we possess, and hasten the time when these commanding heights will be covered with elegant residential buildings, an agreeable embodiment of taxable property, and helping the payment of a burdensome town debt. One feature in our views of interest is lacking in the interior towns, and that is the marine view, which is unassured at any other place.

Still another point of superiority over inland towns, is found in accessibility to the city, the trip by railroad being made in about half an hour, with frequent trains, early and late. We have known no instance of greater gratification and rest for several years in towns some miles from Boston, and whose business was located in the city, decided to change their residence to places in this vicinity, on account of the inconveniences of the longer railroad ride. To those who are similarly afflicted we can assure them that it is easier to move to more pleasant locations, and the shortness of the trip will be found an agreeable change from the toil of business life, and a decided advantage over the longer rail-ride and less frequently recurring trains of more distant towns.

With these advantages, of location and interesting aspects, what is to prevent the rapid advancement of real estate in our borders, when men of enterprise and means direct their attention this way? No possible obstruction to such advancement exists, and the interests of the town require that the possessors of available lots, should be induced to bring the matter to the attention of capitalists and builders. What has been done at Mount Wollaston, and Hyde Park can be repeated here, if some persons more immediately interested will inaugurate a similar enterprise, the success of which is not a matter of doubt.

PHYSICAL.—In Boston's American Museum a manuscript was once exhibited under the name of "What is it?" but the great inquiry concerning a singular baby found in the turbid waters of the gutter in Front street, yesterday, was as might naturally be supposed, "What is it?" and the discoverer of the "stranger" were unable to solve the mystery nor to decide what should be done with the infant, when Coron White appeared, and after surveying the quivering corpse with his cane, ejaculated "Baby," and suddenly departed, in company with the badly sold investors.

RETURNED.—Dr. Turner Tarry, whose return to Weymouth has been prolonged in search of 1812 pensioners, and in appeals for freedmen schools, returned to Washington, where he has entered upon his labors in the U. S. Senate. He left here received a very laudable present from a grandson of our venerable and highly esteemed resident, Rev. Jonas Perkins, of a colored Sabbath school at Washington.

WEYMOUTH SCHOOLS.—The fall term of the Weymouth schools began on Monday, the 25th inst., most of the old teachers retaining their places. At East Weymouth Miss Abbie Burrill succeeds Miss Hodgdon in the Pleasant St. Primary, and Miss August Raymond succeeds Miss Emma Fay, in the Commercial St. school. The girls of the school are well educated, and it is now a part of their study to attend to the Grammar school. The Primary school children who have heretofore attended school in this building have been assigned to other schools, and the best of Mr. Phillips' scholars have gathered in places. It is believed that under this arrangement many of the troubles in various schools at East Weymouth will be obviated, and that the energetic and thorough instruction and discipline all the Grammar school scholars there will receive, will develop good habits.

BARS WARMING IN SO. WEYMOUTH.—A number of the friends of Mr. Wm. Hackin, knowing that he was about ready to occupy a new barn he built, and had built, and thought that it would be a nice place for a little social gathering, had arranged for a meeting. We ought to have, we right to demand the telegraphic system as is asserted, which two items would necessarily create much confusion in the running of trains, and impose too severe a task upon the Superintendent and engineers.

CHEICKER & SONS PIANOS.—The Standard gives the value of Abington for 1870, $7,724, of which $2,050,650 is real estate, and $1,413,044 personal. Number of polls, 2613; Rate of taxation, $16,25. An act of the last Legislature all bank stock is made taxable where the bank is located, and under this law one hundred and thirty thousand dollars ($13,000) tax on Abington is made taxable elsewhere.

Rev. William F. Bacon of Amesbury, has preached three Salathys in the first Congregational church as a candidate for settlement, and has made a favorable impression, and is likely to be chosen for the pastor. A vote has been passed at church meeting to give him a call to settle, but he does not consider it unanimous enough to warrant his acceptance.

The Hanover Branch engine "Brent Rock," collided with a train of empty coal cars at East Weymouth, and the fast car went through the center, breaking both ends, and smoke stuck and breaking the iron plate that protects the boiler head.

Mr. Henry Hunt has lost his valuable trotter "Henrietta." Her leg was broken by the cars near Providence. Mr. Hunt refused $10,000 for her this season. He is a valuable horse by disease a few weeks since, after expending a large sum in doctoring.

Mr. Henry W. Crocker was seriously cut by the falling of a large splitting knife, at the shoe factory of Geo. B. Clapp, one day last week.

(For the Gazette.)

HUNTING.—The coroner's jury summoned by Coronor Lewis, to investigate the accident on the cars, by which Mr. Hunt was killed, returned Wednesday evening at the same hour, and found that his death resulted from his own carelessness, and not from the railroad company from all blame. Mr. Butler had taken passage on the train, and after it was in motion attempted to pass a package to a friend, who was seated in the platform. The car stopped, and the passenger fell, and the car, which had lost its hold, fell between the cars, his legs being crushed. He belonged in Seabright, and leaves a wife and two children.

THE SHOOTING ALFAIR.—Mr. Samuel Atwood, a young contractor in the building trade at North Weymouth last week, was brought before Justice E. C.ampus on Saturday last, and ordered to give bonds in $5,000, to appear at Dedham. The person who was shot is said to be deceased.

COURT.—The criminal term of the Superior Court for this County will commence next Monday, with the Grand Jury. The jury will sit on Wednesday the 13th inst. Wm. H. Sargent and Geo. A. Holbrook will represent Weymouth.

THE RECENT RAILWAY.—Rapidly on the increase, but still produce we believe, a result for good in the future management of our railroads, and in this light it is well to consider that, out of this loss of life and property may grow a more profound sense of responsibility on the part of railway companies, and a more perfect system of saving lives, may be secured. Mr. Thayer's remarks were characterized by calm and deliberate statements. Moral and religious instruction derives its power and efficacy not so much from what men are taught to know, as from what they are brought to feel. It is the natural impress of the atmosphere which influences our practice, and we have no doubt but this was the effect produced upon the audience by Mr. Thayer's remarks, being in a great measure prepared for the announcement of such truths in connection with this subject, in consequence of Mr. Thayer's speech at the Weymouth meeting, and the resolution adopted at the Weymouth meeting, that a committee be appointed to confer with the Railroad Commissioners or other legal authorities to devise measures to prevent the recurrence of such horrors, and especially the removal of passengers does not require that we瓦tch and wait until the system of running trains by the telegraph system, no train leave one station until the train has been reported as having passed the station ahead, is a timely one, and should receive the earliest attention. In the country, the railroads are rapidly diverging, attention to it, in a season, at once philosophical and logical, maintaining the altitude of the position that society had a right to protect itself from any evil which threathens its happiness, and this by the action of the legislature, if this is to be effected.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Thayer again addressed a meeting in the Hall, which was even more interesting. His subject was the rearing of two mistakes which were generally made by even the friends of the temperance movement, viz., that the use of the lighter, and the lighter hours, so far as to me, is a delusion, and that the light is a curse.

He then showed a slide in the public mind of any real distinction between the individual who, in a moment of passion or in a moment of heedlessness, takes the life of one fellow man, and the corporation that, in a moment of greed, little expense, or little trouble, gets rid of many thousands of lives.

Mr. Thayer pointed out that it was, on the contrary, the use of the lighter, drink that was here that the whole danger arose, and that children should not be asked to join in the movement, as they did not possess sufficient intelligence to comprehend the right or the wrong of the principle.

Mr. Thayer disputed this, and maintained that children should be taught the right and wrong of the principle.

Union Chapel, at Wollaston Heights, is already becoming too strait for the large and convenient church edifice it contemplated, which will be grace to these beautiful heights.

The Quincy Brass Band has engaged its officers, as follows:

Director.—George Monk.

Leader.—Francis P. Lewis.

Second Leader.—Richard G. Elton.

Drum Major.—Oscar Carter.

Cheerleader.—Stephen Pownall.

The pastoral relation of Rev. George W. Skinner with the Universalist Society closed last week.

The carrying shop of Bayl & Doherty was pulled last week of calicoes worth to us, and we are indebted to Mr. Ross, (who has settled in here) for valuable information in regard to the country.

Mr. Ross has been a extensive traveller and a trapper and furrier acquainted with the Indian tribes of the North West and is a well known character.

There are three great Indian trails from the South-West, West and North-West. Our Village Site, (which we have named Marshfield) from Mr. Marsh, one of our founders, was originally the location of a large Indian town. If any of our friends are former fur trappers, we would like to hear from them.

These trails are well known to the Indians, who have a great knowledge of the country, and are well known to the Indians.

The Indians are very fond of the water, and the Indians are fond of the water, and

ince Company
ORK,

of the Legislature.

6,874,228.

1,008,000 Cash.

in the World.

CESS OF DEATH CLAIMS,
tory.

, and U. S. Securities.

Prepared

in the strictest sense of the word.

THE UNITED STATES,

$1,682,141.99

$1,008,000

in the world.

any other Life Company in any other.

the character or losses from the agents and Mortgagors they not bound.

for 1870.

$12,169,717.44

2,117,772.09

$14,287,495.53

1,362,761.15

$17,649,256.68

1,362,761.15

$18,011,013.83

1,362,761.15

$19,373,772.98

1,362,761.15

$20,736,531.93

1,362,761.15

$22,099,295.00

1,362,761.15

$23,461,054.18

1,362,761.15

$24,823,824.33

1,362,761.15

$26,185,593.48

1,362,761.15

$27,547,362.63

1,362,761.15

$28,909,131.78

1,362,761.15

$30,270,900.93

1,362,761.15

$31,632,669.08

1,362,761.15

$33,004,438.23

1,362,761.15

$34,366,207.38

1,362,761.15

$35,727,976

1,362,761.15

$37,089,745.53

1,362,761.15

$38,451,514.68

1,362,761.15

$39,813,283.83

1,362,761.15

$41,175,052.98

1,362,761.15

$42,536,822.13

1,362,761.15

$43,898,591.28

1,362,761.15

$45,260,360.43

1,362,761.15

$46,622,129.58

1,362,761.15

$48,000,000.00

1,362,761.15

$49,361,773.13

1,362,761.15

$50,723,542.28

1,362,761.15

$52,085,311.43

1,362,761.15

$53,447,080.58

1,362,761.15

$54,808,849.73

1,362,761.15

$56,170,618.88

1,362,761.15

$57,532,387.03

1,362,761.15

$58,894,156.18

1,362,761.15

$60,255,925.33

1,362,761.15

$61,617,694.48

1,362,761.15

$62,979,463.63

1,362,761.15

$64,341,232.78

1,362,761.15

$65,683,001.93

1,362,761.15

$67,044,769.08

1,362,761.15

$68,406,538.23

1,362,761.15

$69,768,307.38

1,362,761.15

$71,130,076.53

1,362,761.15

$72,491,845.68

1,362,761.15

$73,853,614.83

1,362,761.15

$75,215,383.98

1,362,761.15

$76,577,153.13

1,362,761.15

$77,938,922.28

1,362,761.15

$79,299,691.43

1,362,761.15

$80,661,460.58

1,362,761.15

$82,023,229.73

1,362,761.15

$83,385,008.88

1,362,761.15

$84,746,777.03

1,362,761.15

$86,108,546.18

1,362,761.15

$87,469,315.33

1,362,761.15

$88,831,084.48

1,362,761.15

$90,192,853.63

1,362,761.15

$91,554,622.78

1,362,761.15

$92,916,391.93

1,362,761.15

$94,278,161.08

1,362,761.15

$95,639,930.23

1,362,761.15

$97,001,699.38

1,362,761.15

$98,363,468.53

1,362,761.15

$99,725,237.68

1,362,761.15

$101,087,006.83

1,362,761.15

$102,448,775.98

1,362,761.15

$103,810,545.13

1,362,761.15

$105,172,314.28

1,362,761.15

$106,534,083.43

1,362,761.15

$107,895,852.58

1,362,761.15

$109,257,621.73

1,362,761.15

$110,619,390.88

1,362,761.15

$112,081,159.03

1,362,761.15

$113,442,928.18

1,362,761.15

$114,804,697.33

1,362,761.15

$116,166,466.48

1,362,761.15

$117,528,235.63

1,362,761.15

$118,890,004.78

1,362,761.15

$120,251,773.93

FRIDAY, SEPT. 8, 1871.

WEYMOUTH AGRICULTURAL &amp; INDUSTRIAL SOCIETY.

Every arrangement for the Fair which takes place on the 10th and 11th inst., has been made, or is in process of making, which can, in the opinion of the directors, add to its interest. A well has been dug upon the green, and a large number of trees were planted; arrangements have been made to have a bank of bottles placed in the hall for the exhibition of cut flowers, and premiums for cut flowers will be given as only the varieties are kept separate. It is hoped that this effort of the society to improve the display of flowers will meet with success, and add largely to a larger contribution to this department. The most systematic arrangement for the entry of articles in the Hall has been made, and a large number of assistants secured to enter contributions, so that no delay will be experienced. Large picnics have been arranged, with tables in the hall, indicating the several departments, and a clerk will be found under each to enter the goods for that department. The hall will be open on the afternoon of the 10th, for the reception and entry of goods, and contributors are invited to bring their articles to the hall at that time to avoid the confusion of the crowd on the 10th. And those having long lists of entries are earnestly invited to send me their list prior to the fair, that their cards may be made ready for them when they present their contributions. The tickets for the Poultry, stand and cattle entries for the entry of stock in these departments. While the crop of apples is so small as to interfere somewhat with the display, let each do his best he can, and what we lack in apples make up in pears, peaches, grapes, &c. Abundant room will be given for the display of all kinds of fruit. And we hope to see a display in this department that shall exceed any previous year.

We hope the ladies have not forgotten the prizes for mending and darning, offered this year for the first time. Why will not more of our young misses compete for the prizes? Bread!

Outside of the hall may be seen the ploughing match upon the grounds of the soil committee desired to take immediate action.

They are as follows: Cornelius T. Robinson, Esq., Mr. Wm. A. Nichols, Elizur Brewster, Gen. N. Blodget, S. S. Thompson, Jacob Dyer, Silas Carpenter, Egas Nash, Prince L. Thayer, B. F. Locke, F. S. Torrey, Joseph H. Lives, Henry Dyer, Martin Vining, Josiah Reed, E. T. Joy, Ebenezer Sherman, C. G. Green, Wm. Locke, Ebenezer L. Potts, M. C. Dizer.

This committee is desirous to add to their number one lady in each district.

W. Dyer, Secy. W. A. &amp; I. S.

POLITICAL.—The caucus noticed in other columns heralds the arrival of another State convention, that of Massachusetts. The party has used all means of discretion to prevent a rupture which may follow the intense rivalry for the position of Governor which it threatens to embarrass the Convention. These conflicts are to be met by the nomination of Gov. Channing, who is induced to consent to such a course, if thereby the success of the party may be ensured.

The Democratic convention will probably harmonize in its renomination of Adams, and will give the "new departure" the cold shoulder.

The opinion prevails that Weymouth will give a plurality to Butler, should be the nominee of the Labor Reform party.

1812 PENSIONS.—Thomas W. Nash and Zephri Nash of Weymouth, have applied for pensions, but after a long and tedious hearing, were admitted into active service. The matter is to be decided by the Attorney General, the question being whether enlisted without active service entitles applicants to a pension.

New and Fashionable assortment of Hats, for Men and Boys, at C. S. Williams'.

35TH REGIMENT REUNION.—The reunion of the 35th Mass. Regiment occurs at Plymouth Oct. 19, the anniversary of the battle of Cedar Creek, and for its convenience the family's favorite reunion in which the regiment was engaged. The regiment was made up of companies from Arlington, Plymouth, Lynn, New Bedford, Cambridge, Milton and Boston.

K. O. P.—The Knights of Pythias of this State under general exhortation to Strawberry Hill next Thursday. There will be a large gathering.

RUNAWAY CAPITALISTS.—The grocery team of Mr. G. E. Hopkins of Weymouth Landing, and his son, and the horse and wagon he owned, were Tuesday down Front St., in his travels passing between a tree and the fence on the sidewalk, smashing the wagon. The team of the Quincey Bakery was standing near by, and the horse of Mr. Hopkins crossed his flight with the forward wheels of the wagon, so that it went in contact with the bakery team, which started the horse, and caused him to run down the street toward the Square. In the meantime Hopkins' horse had come in contact with another tree, throwing him down, and when the baker's horse passed him, he struck him, and the horse ran over the prostrate animal, who afterward recovered his footing and ran home. The bakery team whirled through the Square to the stable of Peter Cushing, and the harness box being disconnected just as the team was entering the yard, one end of the wagon was suddenly elevated, scattering Washington pies and other luxuries for which the Quincey establishment is noted, around the yard.

New assortment of Prints, at Williams'.

FAMILY GATHERING.—The descendants of Mr. Amos Daigher, of West Somerville, gathered at his residence, met at the residence of Mr. Jo. on Friday last, for the purpose of celebrating his eighty-fifth birthday. A number of his descendants are residents of Weymouth, and were convened to the old house in one of Hiker's express houses, while others were here. The day was pleasantly spent in social intercourse, intermingled with vocal and instrumental music, and the physical wants of the guests were well supplied at an abundantly loaded table. Such gatherings of kindred are too rare now-a-days to pass unnoticed, as they do, a bond of undying propounding individual happiness, and affording delightful antediluvian occasions to the participants.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH.—We learn that Mr. W. H. Tracy, who has devoted much attention to the hygienic treatment of disease, is contemplating the establishment of a hygienic hospital at South Weymouth, for the reception and treatment of invalids, and will visit the celebrated establishment of Dr. Jackson, at Danvers, N. Y., next month, to gather necessary information of his plans. We trust that the benevolent Mrs. Tracy is one of our more enterprising residents, and her hand-such an institution will not fail of success, and be the means of accomplishing a great amount of good in alleviating the diseases which afflict humanity.

Ladies Scarfs and Bows, at C. S. Williams', Weymouth Landing.

BRAINTREE.

ACCIDENT.—Patrick Lynch, of East Braintree, while swinging from a beam in the Flax Mills on Friday last, to avoid the falling of the load, which he was carrying, and breaking the foot of his leg, remained insensible for a time, but was restored to consciousness, under the care of Dr. Thirkham, of Weymouth.

The golden wedding of John Kimball, Esq., and Betsey, his wife, was celebrated on Saturday the 26th ult., at South Braintree, with becoming solemnity. The mark of matrimony, was purchased at Oak Hall, on Sept. 13, and various mirths of business connected therewith must be immediately attended to, the ministers are invited that a special meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, when every member is requested to present. Army members are to pay their dues to the Post, and will be required to diversify members next Tuesday evening. The blouses were purchased at Oak Hall, that blouse having bought a lot at Government sale, and through the efforts of Mr. Benj. Lowell, of the Post, the requisite number were obtained at a very low rate.

To SPORTSMEN.—Longfield's description of the ascent of Springfield, where from floor to ceiling, like a huge organ, rise the blemished arms, finds a counter in the long estate of the Post, in 100 acres of land, and 1000 feet above sea level. Lovell & Co., 12 Washington St., Boston, whose card will be found in our columns. Their great experience in the business and large stock enables them to offer purchasers the most satisfactory bargains, one of their more prominent specimens being the new Allen's model breech loading rifle, unsurpassed, while the double barrel breech loading shot gun, in light or heavy calibre, is deserving of the inspection of all gunsmiths. The gunsmiths of the model breech loading revolver, which is the lightest and best revolver in the world, weighing only 6 oz., and can be carried in the vest pocket. Gun materials and fitting tackle, of every style and price, are specially made in which the firm have a large stock. They also supply shooting articles being unsurpassed, and highly recommended our sporting friends to call on Messrs. Lovell, assuring them that they will meet with their patrons on the first of October, and part with them on the eve of honorable dealing.

TRADERS.—The meeting of Randolph last Friday was well attended, and the addresses were unusually good. The Hutchinsons added much to the interest of the meeting, by their vocal music. H. F. Facon, Esq., of Quincy, gave the organization of the 18th for the reception and entry of goods, and contrabands, and will be told with what wonderful skill he executes the most difficult pieces. After the reading of a poem written for the occasion, Mr. Kimball made an address of much interest, thanking the guests for their presence on this fiftieth anniversary of his marriage, contrasting in glowing terms the past with the present business condition, and particularly the importance of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested by the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. L. Wheaton Allen, who did not return from his vacation tour in season to join the happy throng in these festivities. The presents bestowed by the friends of the pastor, substantiated his address, and particularly the importance cause, of which he had been a strenuous advocate for forty-four years. His allusion to the early history of temperance, when men were allowed to drink cider, mulled liquors and some rum, and still be tipsy, was a strong feature in his address. Much respect was manifested

Insurance Company
YORK,
RESIDENT.

$10,874,228.
$4,608,000 Cash.

ay in the World.

IN EXCESS OF DEATH CLAIMS,

in history.

and, U. S. Securities,

in the market.

THE LIFE PLAN, in the strictest sense of

, and is divided among them on the first

$5,715,511.02

IN THE UNITED STATES,

$14,00,141.00

18,186,828.00

by any other Life Company in the world.

This company has lived in any other,

from the character or loss due to the investments or Bond and Mortgage upon amount loaned.

cess for 1870.

$12,107,772.14

$2,475,772.00

$11,407,400.00

52,010,424.00

52,857,711.00

1,355,508.00

57,476,058.18

57,171,831.89

1,432,207.07

426,341.00

32,114,881.71

583,112.27

PREMIUM NOTES,

FOR NORFOLK COUNTY,

TOWN IN THE COUNTY.

HUNT,

Agent and Broker,

WILL,

Ins. Co., of Worcester,

2,000.

Co., of Boston,

500.

ORGANS!

INSTRUMENTS.

W. H. REED & CO.,

1,000.

W. H. REED & CO.,

1,000.</

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1871.

A PLEASANT GATHERING.

EAST WEYMOUTH, Sept. 18, 1871.
Mr. Ed. T. Wright, a young and promising artist, present time, making his performances through the press, induces us to forward a brief sketch of a pleasant gathering, which it was the feature of our oblique correspondent to attend.

Mr. Joseph W. Rogers who has recently erected a handsome and tastily dwelted-up house, situated in a quiet and peaceful neighborhood, with his family just entered as its occupants, received his workmen and neighboring friends last Thursday evening, the 14th inst.

We will not attempt a description of the manner in which the interior of the house is fitted up, as it is sufficiently described in the upper rooms, as well as in a more experienced pen than ours is able to make the whole a model of neatness and convenience. One thing adding greatly to the appearance of all the rooms, was the presence of flowers which were profusely distributed.

Soon after the company arrived, the exchange of social greetings being over, a present from neighbors was placed upon the table, consisting of a silver butter-dish, bell-cast and a silver casket of new and pretty style. Informal dancing was indulged in some time during the early part of the evening. The music on the violin, which was rendered by Mr. N. T. Joy was heartily applauded and duly appreciated.

At about 9 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were invited to the dining room, where they were served with a light tea set of elegant and decidedly elegant taste, each piece having engraved in the letter R. in Old English style. This gift was presented by Mr. C. P. Joy, in behalf of his fellow operatives, in a neat speech, in which he said that he hoped Mr. R. would accept this as a token of respect and regard, and that it would be a pleasure to the owners.

George Hollis, comprising a band and orchestra, in this department was very gratifying to all, and the show added greatly to the interest of the exhibition. Mrs. Canterbury exhibited 63 different specimens of plants with two elegant baskets of cut flowers, and the band, consisting of 11 members, played a variety of tunes, Mr. L. Lind, Wm. T. Shaw, and E. W. Gardner, cows and calves were plentiful, and among the fat cattle was an excellent one by J. Martin, a well known maker of animal feedings, having a large number of the latter item of exhibition, pulling a heavy wagon, laden with 500 lbs. flour, over a piece of just plowed before the wheels, in gool shape. The horsemen were promptly on hand, and the usual trials were speedily over. The afternoon was spent in viewing the displays of various articles, also the Antislavery performance, and some of the performers. The pictures are excellent, and I shall be found at his gallery.

Fred. C. Wright, the artist, exhibited one of the fruits of his skill, giving a beautiful view of the Washington Monument, and the buildings, houses, trees, etc., which are fairly represented, and the names of the exhibitors will be found in the list of premiums.

Boots and shoes, strings, etc., were not very largely represented, there being but a few pieces, though the whole were promptly on hand, and the usual trials were speedily over.

The outside of the hall attention is turned to the animals, horses being exhibited by W. W. Eastham, Albert Turrell, Jason Hollbrook, also by the latter, sheep, E. L. Lind, Wm. T. Shaw, and E. W. Gardner, cows and calves were plentiful, and among the fat cattle was an excellent one by J. Martin, a well known maker of animal feedings, having a large number of the latter item of exhibition, pulling a heavy wagon, laden with 500 lbs. flour, over a piece of just plowed before the wheels, in gool shape. The horsemen were promptly on hand, and the usual trials were speedily over.

Albert Turrell, also a fat cattle owner, exhibited a fine specimen of his breeding, took the 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes for Ayrshire breeders.

A fine Jersey cow was shown by H. May, and the exhibition of this breed was, as usual, a large and fine grade.

Antislavery, and in great numbers.

Further specifications of exhibitors will be found under premiums.

The pens devoted to swine were well filled, Albert Turrell and Richard Hollbrook being the principal exhibitors.

In Poultry, the different breeds fowls were well represented, and J. Richards, who received several first prizes, C. D. Whiting, made an excellent display of Ayshires and Muscovy Ducks, and a lot of Mottled Geese eggs were displayed by C. W. Chipman.

Agricultural implements were shown by Whittemore Belcher & Co., Boston, in and among the manmades were dried, and the weight per bushel, the growth being made in about 35 days.

Lewis D. Sietson also exhibited a manmow weighing 127 lbs.

Other contributors of this department included Hubbard, Park Morris, and Johnson.

The potato variety produced an abundant show.

John T. Reed, of South Weymouth,

contributed 32 varieties, the Peebles Breezes

No. 6, being the handsomest and best potato.

Mr. Alford also exhibited several varieties of corn, including Minnesota, white pop, New York, broad red, pop, and Dent, J. Crane, of East Braintree, exhibited a fine lot of mammoth sweet corn, and W. F. Price, the same, though he did not receive any premium.

Early Rose, and Cran Shadex, exhibited a good variety of the King of the Early.

The 12 varieties of Onions White's exhibition were double. Is a good show, and 34 varieties contributed by Mr. J. N. Dyer, made him "high life," as the fishermen say in this department.

Notwithstanding the general scarcity of apples in this season, in this respect was not lacking in variety, there being about 68 pieces, the contributions of E. D. Raymond, O. P. Shaw, C. Sprague, T. J. Hale, and Josiah Martin, and the several ones which occupied the remainder of the day, under the able management of Messrs. J. T. Dyer, B. L. Morrison, Alexis Torrey, and L. B. Turrell, as directors and judges, passed off with harmony and general satisfaction.

It was a grand success, and seemed to have a great future in the welfare of the society, which promises upon its return.

Some of the old songs, which must ever be favorites among the true lovers of music, were sung with singularistic by Mr. Abner Martin, and the singing company retired to their homes, carrying with them thoughts that in the future, must afford pleasant recollections to all.

C. B. C.

CORONER'S DECISION.—Albion was unable to speak to this coroner's inquest held at Bridgewater over the remains of Mrs. Butterworth, killed by the car at Tiverton. The coroner, Mr. Kingman, has brought a charge of manslaughter against Mr. Wright, the conductor of the train, and he has been arrested. The case will probably go before the Grand Jury immediately, Mr. W. waving on examination.

The North Bridgewater Gazette, in a statement of the matter, says that "the cars run by the depot several rods, and just came to a stop, when the party started to get out; just as Mrs. B. was starting to get out, she fell, and was crushed. No one saw her fall but the little girl, who told the conductor that her mother fell from the cars, and the remainder of the party requested the conductor to stop the train, as they feared Mrs. Butterworth was injured, but this request was disregarded."

This latter clause would make Conductor Wright an infamous monster, if the assertion was true, but we believe there is sufficient evidence to prove that this charge is groundless, and that Mr. Wright had no cause to suspect that a passenger had fallen from the cars, and the remainder of the party requested the conductor to stop the train, as they feared Mrs. Butterworth was injured, but this request was disregarded.

THE LABOR REFORM CAUCUS.—The caucus of the Labor Reform party of Weymouth will be held next Wednesday evening at the Town Hall.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—The sermon preached by Dr. Ed. Bercher, in the Union Church, Weymouth Landing, Sunday evening, Sept. 18th, will be reviewed in the Eastern Church, as the Pastor, next Sunday afternoon, Sept. 2d, "With God cast away (eternally) any of an people."

THE BOSTON TRAVELLER.—The Boston Traveller says a very old and infirm woman, in Weymouth, Natick, on Sunday evening last, by C. Turrell, Esq., of East Weymouth, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., upon "The Great Conflict." The hall was crowded to its capacity, and the novel and interesting manner in which the subject of temperance was treated held the attention of the audience closely during its delivery.

EXCHANGE.—Rev. Mr. McLevy, will exchange with Rev. Mr. McLeroy, of East Weymouth, next Sunday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The Seventeenth Annual Convention of the Evangelical Sunday Schools of Massachusetts will be held in the Music Hall, Lynn, Sept. 27, and 28.

Each school in the State is entitled to two delegates (and no more), including the Boston City Schools.

Free return tickets will be furnished at the Convention to all persons coming over the leading Railroads for the purpose of attending the meetings.

Entertainment will be provided by the editor of Lynn, for such delegates and guests as may be present, and the Rev. George D. East, Secretary of the Local Committee, Lynn, previous to the 2d inst. Delegates choosing to provide for themselves are requested not to send their names to Mr. D. East.

Persons wishing to return to Boston Wednesday night, will be accommodated by the traffic manager, Lynn, at 9:30 P. M.

ELLEN SHUTE, State Secretary, 49 Winter Street, Boston.

THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP for August, contains a Gypsy, the Alabazari, Lolly-poly, Bells, the Granary, the Bell, by Ovidius, An Ode on a Melancholy Occasion, Ramble Among the Tombs, How Books are Made, Love, the Conqueror, The Coward Unmasked, The First Magazine, Fans, Watching, Boston, Harlow E. Woodward, 259 Dudley street, $1.00 per year.

SEVENTH ANNUAL FAIR OF THE
Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1871.

A PLEASANT GATHERING.

EAST WEYMOUTH, Sept. 18, 1871.
Mr. Ed. T. Wright, a young and promising artist, present time, making his performances through the press, induces us to forward a brief sketch of a pleasant gathering, which it was the feature of our oblique correspondent to attend.

Mr. Joseph W. Rogers who has recently erected a handsome and tastily dwelted-up house, situated in a quiet and peaceful neighborhood, with his family just entered as its occupants, received his workmen and neighboring friends last Thursday evening, the 14th inst.

We will not attempt a description of the manner in which the interior of the house is fitted up, as it is sufficiently described in the upper rooms, as well as in a more experienced pen than ours is able to make the whole a model of neatness and convenience. One thing adding greatly to the appearance of all the rooms, was the presence of flowers which were profusely distributed.

Soon after the company arrived, the exchange of social greetings being over, a present from neighbors was placed upon the table, consisting of a silver butter-dish, bell-cast and a silver casket of new and pretty style. Informal dancing was indulged in some time during the early part of the evening. The music on the violin, which was rendered by Mr. N. W. Joy was heartily applauded and duly appreciated.

At about 9 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were invited to the dining room, where they were served with a light tea set of elegant and decidedly elegant taste, each piece having engraved in the letter R. in Old English style. This gift was presented by Mr. C. P. Joy, in behalf of his fellow operatives, in a neat speech, in which he said that he hoped Mr. R. would accept this as a token of respect and regard, and that it would be a pleasure to the owners.

Albert Turrell, also a fat cattle owner, exhibited a fine specimen of his breeding, took the 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes for Ayrshire breeders.

A fine Jersey cow was shown by H. May, and the exhibition of this breed was, as usual, a large and fine grade.

Antislavery, and in great numbers.

Further specifications of exhibitors will be found under premiums.

The pens devoted to swine were well filled, Albert Turrell and Richard Hollbrook being the principal exhibitors.

In Poultry, the different breeds fowls were well represented, and J. Richards, who received several first prizes, C. D. Whiting, made an excellent display of Ayshires and Muscovy Ducks, and a lot of Mottled Geese eggs were displayed by C. W. Chipman.

Agricultural implements were shown by Whittemore Belcher & Co., Boston, in and among the manmades were dried, and the weight per bushel, the growth being made in about 35 days.

Lewis D. Sietson also exhibited a manmow weighing 127 lbs.

Other contributors of this department included Hubbard, Park Morris, and Johnson.

The potato variety produced an abundant show.

John T. Reed, of South Weymouth,

contributed 32 varieties, the Peebles Breezes

No. 6, being the handsomest and best potato.

Mr. Alford also exhibited several varieties of corn, including Minnesota, white pop, New York, broad red, pop, and Dent, J. Crane, of East Braintree, exhibited a fine lot of mammoth sweet corn, and W. F. Price, the same, though he did not receive any premium.

Early Rose, and Cran Shadex, exhibited a good variety of the King of the Early.

The 12 varieties of Onions White's exhibition were double. Is a good show, and 34 varieties contributed by Mr. J. N. Dyer, made him "high life," as the fishermen say in this department.

Notwithstanding the general scarcity of apples in this season, in this respect was not lacking in variety, there being about 68 pieces, the contributions of E. D. Raymond, O. P. Shaw, C. Sprague, T. J. Hale, and Josiah Martin, and the several ones which occupied the remainder of the day, under the able management of Messrs. J. T. Dyer, B. L. Morrison, Alexis Torrey, and L. B. Turrell, as directors and judges, passed off with harmony and general satisfaction.

It was a grand success, and seemed to have a great future in the welfare of the society, which promises upon its return.

Some of the old songs, which must ever be favorites among the true lovers of music, were sung with singularistic by Mr. Abner Martin, and the singing company retired to their homes, carrying with them thoughts that in the future, must afford pleasant recollections to all.

C. B. C.

CORONER'S DECISION.—Albion was unable to speak to this coroner's inquest held at Bridgewater over the remains of Mrs. Butterworth, killed by the car at Tiverton. The coroner, Mr. Kingman, has brought a charge of manslaughter against Mr. Wright, the conductor of the train, and he has been arrested. The case will probably go before the Grand Jury immediately, Mr. W. waving on examination.

The North Bridgewater Gazette, in a statement of the matter, says that "the cars run by the depot several rods, and just came to a stop, when the party started to get out; just as Mrs. B. was starting to get out, she fell, and was crushed. No one saw her fall but the little girl, who told the conductor that her mother fell from the cars, and the remainder of the party requested the conductor to stop the train, as they feared Mrs. Butterworth was injured, but this request was disregarded."

This latter clause would make Conductor Wright an infamous monster, if the assertion was true, but we believe there is sufficient evidence to prove that this charge is groundless, and that Mr. Wright had no cause to suspect that a passenger had fallen from the cars, and the remainder of the party requested the conductor to stop the train, as they feared Mrs. Butterworth was injured, but this request was disregarded.

THE LABOR REFORM CAUCUS.—The caucus of the Labor Reform party of Weymouth will be held next Wednesday evening at the Town Hall.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—The sermon preached by Dr. Ed. Bercher, in the Union Church, Weymouth Landing, Sunday evening, Sept. 18th, will be reviewed in the Eastern Church, as the Pastor, next Sunday afternoon, Sept. 2d, "With God cast away (eternally) any of an people."

THE BOSTON TRAVELLER.—The Boston Traveller says a very old and infirm woman, in Weymouth, Natick, on Sunday evening last, by C. Turrell, Esq., of East Weymouth, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., upon "The Great Conflict." The hall was crowded to its capacity, and the novel and interesting manner in which the subject of temperance was treated held the attention of the audience closely during its delivery.

EXCHANGE.—Rev. Mr. McLevy, will exchange with Rev. Mr. McLeroy, of East Weymouth, next Sunday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The Seventeenth Annual Convention of the Evangelical Sunday Schools of Massachusetts will be held in the Music Hall, Lynn, Sept. 27, and 28.

Each school in the State is entitled to two delegates (and no more), including the Boston City Schools.

Free return tickets will be furnished at the Convention to all persons coming over the leading Railroads for the purpose of attending the meetings.

Entertainment will be provided by the editor of Lynn, for such delegates and guests as may be present, and the Rev. George D. East, Secretary of the Local Committee, Lynn, previous to the 2d inst. Delegates choosing to provide for themselves are requested not to send their names to Mr. D. East.

Persons wishing to return to Boston Wednesday night, will be accommodated by the traffic manager, Lynn, at 9:30 P. M.

ELLEN SHUTE, State Secretary, 49 Winter Street, Boston.

THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP for August, contains a Gypsy, the Alabazari, Lolly-poly, Bells, the Granary, the Bell, by Ovidius, An Ode on a Melancholy Occasion, Ramble Among the Tombs, How Books are Made, Love, the Conqueror, The Coward Unmasked, The First Magazine, Fans, Watching, Boston, Harlow E. Woodward, 259 Dudley street, $1.00 per year.

THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP for September, contains a Gypsy, the Alabazari, Lolly-poly, Bells, the Granary, the Bell, by Ovidius, An Ode on a Melancholy Occasion, Ramble Among the Tombs, How Books are Made, Love, the Conqueror, The Coward Unmasked, The First Magazine, Fans, Watching, Boston, Harlow E. Woodward, 259 Dudley street, $1.00 per year.

THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP for October, contains a Gypsy, the Alabazari, Lolly-poly, Bells, the Granary, the Bell, by Ovidius, An Ode on a Melancholy Occasion, Ramble Among the Tombs, How Books are Made, Love, the Conqueror, The Coward Unmasked, Autumn Wads.

In the Northern gate,
The Summer bays of the trees are gone,
The woods are bare, the leaves are all
Have put their glory on.

The mountains that awful
In their wile sweep, the colored landscape round,
Seen groups of giant kias in purple and in gold. That guard enchanted ground.

Oh, Autumn, why so soon?
Depart the hills that make the forest glad;
Thy gentle wind and thy soft sunny morn,
And leave us still and quiet.

Ah! where a bit too fast;
Ever in the coldest shades to stray;
Amid the knees of the soft southwest,
To roost and dream at eve.

And leave the tree, the low, soft strife;
That makes men mad; the tree for wealth
and power,
The passion and the care that wither life.
And waste the little hour.

Farm, Garden and Household.

REMEDY FOR NEPHRITIS.—Prepare horse radish by grating and mixing in vinegar, the same as for the table, and apply to the temples when the head is affected; or to the wrist when the pain is in the arm or shoulder.

LEAVES FOR HONEY.—In the leaves of the tree of New York, or "blue holly," in the shape of bunches of clover are sold. Could not farmers learn a lesson from "elf folk" in this, and provide their teams with a "bite" and a rest of ten minutes in the middle of hard forenoon's plowing?

HEADBURN.—The common and distressing affection is generally connected with indigestion. To relieve it for the most part, a decoction of senna, or water infused with sulphuric acid may be employed. To cease the complaint requires the digestive power to be strengthened by tonics, bitters and a rest of ten minutes in the middle of hard forenoon's plowing?

LEAVES FOR HORSES.—In the leaves of the tree of New York, or "blue holly," in the shape of bunches of clover are sold. Could not farmers learn a lesson from "elf folk" in this, and provide their teams with a "bite" and a rest of ten minutes in the middle of hard forenoon's plowing?

INDIGESTION.—To relieve it for the most part, a decoction of senna, or water infused with sulphuric acid may be employed. To cease the complaint requires the digestive power to be strengthened by tonics, bitters and a rest of ten minutes in the middle of hard forenoon's plowing?

SAVANNAH (Ga.) man cured of rheumatism by the active movements he made to get out of the way of mud.

THE large town of Lechiffa, Algiers, has been destroyed, and the insurrectionary leaders in the vicinity captured and shot.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.

SAVANNAH.—The beauty that comes of the sun is very rare.